To Whom It May Concern,

I am writing to express our satisfaction with our recent partnership with Dance Parade, Inc. this past Spring. Dance Parade's teaching artist, Caryn Cooper, brought a refreshing series of Broadway Dance and Music classes to our older adult community, significantly enriching our program offerings.

The partnership with Dance Parade's Ageless Action Program has been an exceptional addition to our center. The classes, meticulously scheduled and organized by Dance Parade, provided an energetic and engaging environment tailored to the preferences and needs of our members. Caryn Cooper's sessions kept our members active and entertained, blending beloved Broadway numbers with unique, innovative twists that resonated deeply with everyone involved.

The feedback we received from participants was greatly positive, with many expressing a strong desire to continue these classes. The final showcase for family and friends was a memorable event held outdoors that demonstrated the positive influence of the program and highlighted the new skills our participants had developed.

Caryn Cooper's steady and inspiring teaching style was a great motivation for our members. Her approach to integrating familiar dance and Broadway show tunes into the program curriculum fostered a strong sense of familiar connection to the arts and significantly contributed to the overall receipt of this program in our community.

Looking forward, we are eager to continue this fruitful collaboration with Dance Parade. The impact of their programs on our community has been profound, and we strongly support the ongoing efforts of this organization. Dance Parade's commitment to promoting artistic expression and enhancing the well-being of older adults is invaluable, and we advocate for its continued support.

Sincerely,

Jaimeson Champion, LMSW
